Dear Professor Kutler:

I have received your letter of January 12 and must, once again, decline your request for a meeting to discuss the history of Watergate. The views I expressed in my letter to you have not changed, and I will not be able to discuss these matters while I am serving as Chief of Staff to the President.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

Dear Vic:

Thank you for your letter of January 20 recommending David Ladd to replace Bob Bork on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

We'll keep his name in mind as we review candidates for this vacancy. I'd hoped, of course, that the opening would exist because of Judge Bork's elevation to the Supreme Court. I think he intends to be heard from, and we intend to continue putting forward nominees, like Judge Kennedy, who believe in the principle of judicial restraint.

Dear Ms. Gates:

Thank you for advising us of the position of your organization, the National Association of Negro Business and Professional Women's Club, on the acid rain legislation currently before Congress.

Our nation is the world's leader in environmental improvement and protection. The environmental protection program already in place has substantially reduced harmful emissions despite rising electricity consumption and an increase in the number of motor vehicles.

The Reagan Administration's approach to solving our environmental concerns has been to promote the kind of new clean coal technologies to which you refer so that our economy can continue to grow and new jobs and opportunities can be created. In that regard, the President has pledged to invest $2.5 billion over the next several years, in partnership with the private sector, to develop needed technologies.

We appreciate your interest and wish you success in your efforts to make your position known.

Thank you for your letter recommending Dean Kleckner for service on the National Economic Commission. I have directed that his name be placed on our list of potential appointees. As you are fully aware, I have met with Dean on several occasions and have a high regard for him. I think he would be a very valuable member of the Commission.

As you know, the President has only two appointments (compared to 10 for the Congress). It will be very difficult to select only two from a very distinguished roster of possible appointees. However, I will make sure that the President is aware of your recommendation and that Dean receives every consideration when the decision is made.

Dear Marty:

Thanks for sending along the Economist piece on LDC debt problems. While I understand (and tend to agree with) your conclusion, I wonder if the banks will provide even the level of capital you cite. As you know, the regional banks are already writing down their existing loans and generally leaving the LDC market. I understand several regionals intend to shed all their Mexican debt in the upcoming "swap" -- assuming they can. The money-center banks are under great pressure to follow suit. These developments, coupled with foreign banks write-offs, leaves me less than sanguine about the prospects for further substantial bank lending.

All of that is to say I continue to worry about the LDC's in general and the political instability in several of the countries. I suspect we do not need a major debt problem given the current state of the financial markets and the economy.

I enjoyed our meeting and conversation in December and look forward to seeing you again when our schedules permit.

Dear Ms. Pyle:

Thank you for your letter to Senator Baker concerning acquisition of the historic post office building in Gettysburg for the Adams County Public Library.

We have been advised that officials of the Postal Service's Philadelphia Facilities Service Center are working with local government representatives who wish to submit a joint proposal for the purchase of the building. We also understand that the Postal Service will retain space at that site for use as a retail unit.

Generally speaking, when the Postal Service owns a building which is determined to exceed their needs, Postal Service Facilities Department officials ask the General Services Administration (GSA) to screen all Federal agencies and advise if any of them is interested in acquiring the property at fair market value. In this case, the Postal Service is awaiting GSA's response.

If neither GSA nor any other Federal agency has a need for the property, it is offered to local governments. This is done prior to public advertising. If an acceptable sale cannot be negotiated with local government officials, the property is publicly advertised for sale to the highest bidder. All property must, however, be disposed of at fair market value.

I hope you find this information helpful. Please accept Senator Baker's best wishes.

Dear Mr. Lessey:

Thanks for your letter of January 22 asking that I formally swear you in as Director of the Selective Service. It sounds like you've really taken the reins there and assembled quite a team of professionals who are doing an outstanding job.
